Points Wine Enthusiast, 2010

Capel is the biggest spirits company and producer of pisco in the world. This company is the biggest white-grape producer in the world.

Pisco Capel is a wine distilled alcohol with Chilean Denomination of Origin. Pisco is the National Spirit of Chile. Pisco is an all-natural grape spirit produced in northern Chile.

It is a blend of 30% Muscat grapes, 70% Pedro Jimenez and Torrontes grapes, then aged in American Wooden Casks for 4-6 months.

It is slowly distilled with the crystal-clear water from the high Andes Mountains, resulting in a transparent spirit with delicate bouquet.

The scent reads as fruity and a touch smoky: on the tongue, it's surprisingly, sweet, finishing long and fruity, with some herbaceous and vanilla notes on the finish. A smooth and sophisticated pisco, and an excellent value.
