Luis Segundo Correas is a 150 Year-Old Winery, 4th generation of the family and the vineyards are more than 85 years old.

The winery is personally maintained by its owners who believe that the origin of the quality of wines begins in the vineyards.

The family owns 1,000 acres of vineyards distributed between 8 farms.

The owners Julian and Francisco Correas control the production to assure quality, the pruning to achieve optimum quantity, the stripping of the leaves that will allow the necessary sun, a strict sanitary control of every wine-stock, among other activities.

The vineyards are watered entirely by de-icing water from the mountain range of the Andes.

“Valle Las Acequias Oak Malbec 2007 is a beautiful intense malbec. Complex aromatics, black cherry, spice box, lavender; velvety-textured, succulent and lengthy wine.” Robert Parker
